OF CINCINNATI

INTRODUCTORY.

I dedicate this Directory to the citizens of Wichita, who have extended to me the full meed of a generous support. I do not claim perfection for it, but believe the charity of the patrons will induce them to overlook all errors that are not flagrant. I have endeavored to be as near correct as possible in writing the names of the citizens, where they came from, their avocation, and where they now reside; but at the threshold a difficulty presented itself in the absence of numbers on the streets. Sometimes, too, the people were absent from their homes, and information (if secured at all) had to be gathered from the neighbors.

In a stirring Western city like Wichita, every day brings its changes in the matter of location by renters, boarders, and even business men, and it would be strange indeed if a list partly made up two months ago would be absolutely correct as to location.

For the uniform courtesy with which I have been treated in my rounds from house to house, and in reply to my inquiries, which may have sometimes seemed impertinent, I return my hearty thanks to the citizens.

I also desire to acknowledge my obligations to the publishers of the three papers in the city for the assistance rendered me in their columns; to the county and city clerk, a majority of the ministers, and the superintendent of schools and others, for the valuable information they furnished, and to Messrs. Baldwin and Ong, artists, for their contributions.

The exhibit presented in the future pages of this Directory ought to be satisfactory to every reasonable mind. The increase in the population—while it may not have come up to the expectations of the more sanguine—exhibits a healthy growth, while the advancement along all the avenues of material prosperity has, indeed, been remarkable.

The large number of advertisements in the book—although only a partial mirror of the business of the city—are of themselves sufficient evidence that Wichita is not a puny village, but a vigorous young commercial giant, whose healthy and robust childhood promises an almsot unprecedented advancement into a vigorous manhood.

If this book shall contribute even a small share towards the increase in the number of good citizens and the capital of the city, the publisher will feel that his labors have not been in vain.

Its Past, Present and Future.

LOCATION.

Just where the more limpid waters of the Little Arkansas River pass into the swift and turbulent channel of the Great Arkansas, that carries the sands of the Rocky Mountains through three States and one Territory into the bosom of the Father of Waters, sits our young prairie queen, just now bedecked with green verdure, and embordered with golden fields whose products are soon to assist largely in filling the graneries of the world.

Wichita is about 150 miles from the eastern limits of the State, and nearly 50 from the south line.

It is the seat of justice of Sedgwick County, and is located near the northern limits of the Osage Trust Lands, which, up to August, 1865, was the exclusive hunting ground of the Osage Indians. Its streets, now marked by the footprints of an advanced civilization, have taken the place of the pathways that told, but little over a decade past, where the buffalo trod. The hum of nearly 5,000 voices, and the sound of church and school bells, are exchanged for the solitude of nature then reigning almost supreme; its fine business blocks, mills, manufactories and beautiful residences are substituting the smoke from their chimneys for that which then arose only from camp and prairie fires; its gardens are sending up their perfume from cultivated roses and honeysuckles, geraniums and peonies, in the stead of that of the wild flowers that mingled with the prairie grass, and its fruit and forest trees are shading the ground that then parched and blistered beneath the rays of each day's sun.

But for fear our practical readers will exclaim in their impatience, "Give us a rest," or invite us to "hire a hall" and "speak our piece" before an audience of school boys and girls, we bid farewell to the poetry that comes up from these shady groves and redolent flower-gardens, and take up the thread that connects us with

THE PAST.

In taking up this thread and following it to the present, we have referred to the history published in the Eagle in 1876 for part of our data up to that time. We are also indebted to several of our old citizens for reminiscences.

In 1865, when, by treaty with the Osage Indians, the territory in which Wichita occupies an important position, was thrown into the market, the feet of no white man trod the soil of Sedgwick County as an actual resident. In fact, up to that time, the skeleton of "American Desert," pictured in the ancient atlases, was not, so far as it related to this section, a myth, even in the minds of many of the citizens of our own state. The treaty, although made on the 29th day of Sept., 1865, was not ratified until February, 1867; the President's proclamation throwing them partially into the market, under the 4th article, was promulgated nearly a year later, and in January, 1868, the land office at Humboldt was open to purchasers. As the 4th article of the treaty only gave the privilege of purchasing to those who were actual settlers before it was ratified, there were but few purchasers. The writer, who was then Receiver, does not recollect of any applications as far west as Sedgwick County, until after the passage of the joint resolution of Congress in 1869, and the opening of the office for filings, the succeeding Autumn. We recollect that the first lot of declaration statements was brought over by D. S. Munger, who represented the settlers here.

The first actual settler of whom we have any knowledge, was Jesse Chisholm, after whom the stream running east of the city was named. Before him, however, other parties located for temporary purposes. Messrs. Moxley & Mosley, C. C. Arnold, Thompson Crawford, Bob Dunlap, Bob Duracken and Jacob A. Cary came within the present limits of the county as early as the year 1857, and engaged in hunting and trading with the Indians. Moxley & Mosley started a "ranch" on the Little River, while the others located themselves on the Great Arkansas, on the present Jewett farm, near Park City. They were engaged in catching buffalo cows and calves. Moxley was drowned in the Kansas River in 1864. Mosley was killed by Osage Indians, at Medicine Lodge, in 1874. It was understood that Crawford went to Virginia with John Brown, and was killed at Harper's Ferry. Mr. Arnold, from whom we gather the foregoing information, still resides in the city, and until recently has been engaged in the livery business.

Among those who were here as early as the year 1867, were Hon. Wm. Griffinstien (our present Mayor), Hon. J. R. Mead, Eli Waterman, H. W. Vigus and wife (she being the first white female to locate), D. S. Munger, Mr. Durfee and Mr. Ledrick.

Mr. Griffinstien established a trading post on Cowskin Creek, near where Jamesburg is located, in 1865. Shortly after, Mr. Chisholm established a "ranche" about three miles northwest of the present city, between the two rivers.

The same year Durfee & Ledrick started one on the banks of the Little River, near the site of W. C. Woodman's present residence.

H. W. Vigus followed his trade of harness making with the latter gentlemen, but shortly afterwards opened the first "hotel," under the cognomen of "The Buckhorn." It was said to have been a curiosity in architecture, and, judging by the photographs now extant, report has told the truth; but we have heard no complaint over the fare furnished by our genial friend.

In May, 1868, Mr. Ledrick withdrew from his firm, and Milo Kellogg, late Register of Deeds, having arrived, took charge of the business. He was accompanied by Charles Hunter, who, shortly after, brought his mother and sister.

During the same year, a company of United States soldiers, under command of Capt. Samuel L. Barr, were located here to protect the citizens from the Indians, and remained about a year. Of this company there are residents three—Policeman Mohen (then Sergeant), of the city, and Sergeant John Ward and Charles Bush, of the county. The same year a company of cavalry, Col. West commanding, and a colored company, commanded by Capt. Rowelson, were stationed, each about three months.

The location began to be known as Wichita, though not platted until some time after.

E. P. Waterman took a claim in February, 1868, and D. S. Munger (present Coroner of Sedgwick County), in May following.

About the same time Doc. Llewellan moved from the Whitewater and took the quarter directly north of the city. H. W. Vigus also laid claim to the same tract, and it was for a long time in contest before the land offices at Humboldt and Augusta. The parties finally compromised and divided the land. Mr. Vigus is now residing on a portiion of it.

During the summer of 1868 the first post-office was established, with Milo Kellogg as Postmaster.

Sedgwick County having been attached to Butler for judicial purposes, D. S. Munger was appointed the first Justice of the Peace.

The first election in the county was held in November, 1868; but as the county was not organized, it was decided illegal and was not counted.

In the summer of 1868, the first news was brought from Zion by Rev. Mr. Saxby, Baptist minister. He preached at Durfee's ranch, and heathen mythology has it that when the "boys" were called on to start a hymn, they made the welkin ring with the song of "Old John Brown." Mr. Saxby was followed by Rev. Mr. Boggs, who established the first Sabbath School, in 1869.

A ferry-boat was launched across the Arkansas; the Texas cattle drive was established; immigration began pouring in, and times were becoming lively.

Reuben Riggs opened the first law and land office in the winter of 1869.

The same winter, J. M. Steele and G. H. Smith opened an office in the "Buckhorn" for the sale of fence-wire.

In January 1870, the first mail route was established, with C. M. Garrison—who started the first saddle and harness shop—as carrier.

Early in 1870, Mr. Griffenstien purchased of A. A. Moore a claim containing 94 acres, for which he paid a pair of dilapidated mules, a wagon and saddle. He subsequently entered the land, for which he paid our venerable Uncle Samuel $117.50. This tract lies south of the line of Douglas avenue, and in its limits is embraced the First Ward, with a population of 1,800.

It is not the purpose of this sketch to indulge in personal puffs, but we do not think we will be censured by any citizen of Wichita when we say that much of its remarkable prosperity is due to Mr. Griffinstien's broad-gauged views as to the duties of the father of a city.

We do not recollect of any personal acquaintance with this particular Moore; but we judge, from human nature, that he has cursed himself many times for his sale. We believe, however, that had he retained the claim, and had he not "put himself in his (Griffinstien's) place," he would not have been the only one who would indulge in the unpleasant pastime of "cursing himself." Mr. G. says it was business. So it was. He "cast his bread upon the waters," and it was not many days until it was returned to him, and to the citizens who established their fortunes on the banks thereof; for the splendid business blocks, manufactories and residences speak for themselves, and are monuments to a spirit of enterprise that looks beyond the end of the nose.

Mr. G. also purchased, of Eli Waterman, eighty acres lying north of Douglas avenue, and between Lawrence avenue and Waterman's addition to the western part of the city, for which he paid $25 an acre.

On the 25th of March, 1870, D. S. Munger filed a plat of the southeast quarter of Section 17, Township 27, Range 1, east, and on the same day Griffinstien filed a plat of the east half of the northeast quarter of Section 20, in the same township and range. Subsequently he filed a plat embracing the First Ward. Both parties were sensible enough not to quarrel over little things, and after a friendly conference, they agreed that they would all unite in launching their ship under the title of WICHITA.

Up to the time the first plats were filed, what there was of Wichita was located north of Central avenue and near the banks of the Little River, but Mr. Griffinstien then proceeded to erect a building on his part of the town, and moved into it with a stock of goods. He also constructed the "L" part of the old Empire (now Tremont) House. Others followed, and quite a contest ensued for supremacy in the embryo city as to location. It resulted in centering the business portion along Main street, and, working southward, it finally reached Douglas avenue. The subsequent location of the railroad depot on the east end, and the construction of the bridge at the west end, eventually made Douglas avenue the principal business thoroughfare, with Main street following closely behind.

The county having been organized, an election was held in April, 1870, which resulted in locating the county seat at Wichita. Park City was its competitor. The first meeting of the County Commissioners was held the same month. About the same time, Dr. E. B. Allen, the first physician, commenced practicing.

In May, 1870, E. H. Nugent opened the first bakery, and drove the first pump, locating on the lot adjoining the Occidental, on Main street.

The rapidly accumulating population created a demand for something more than jeans, flannel and home-spun cloths, and a millinery store was established.

During the same month, D. S. Munger was appointed Postmaster, vice Milo Kellogg, resigned.

In June following, the first term of the District Court was held in the upper story of a livery stable opposite the Empire House, Judge W. R. Brown, presiding; W. N. Walker, Sheriff; F. J. Fulton, County Attorney; C. S. Roe, Deputy Clerk. The resident Attorneys were, H. C. Sluss, Reuben Riggs and P. T. Weeks. Among the Attorneys from abroad was our present Judge, Hon. W. P. Campbell.

Waterman's addition was platted on the 30th of May, and Mead's the following August.

July 4th was duly celebrated, and a barbecued buffalo disposed of.

In July, 1870, Wichita was incorporated as a town, with C. A. Stafford, Chris. T. Pierce, Ed. W. Smith, John Peyton and Morgan Cox, Trustees. C. N. Stafford, President; E. W. Smith, Treasurer; G. H. Smith, Clerk; H. E. Vantrees, Police Magistrate, and Ike Walker, Marshal.

In August, the Wichita Vidette was started by F. A. Sowers and W. B. Hutchison; but was discontinued after a publication of some months.

A plat of Hilton's addition was filed in November, and of Eglish's in December.

In the Eagle's Centennial history, it is stated that J. P. Allen's Drug Store was the only business of any kind established in 1870, that has survived. In this particular our informants differ with the author. J. H. Black, proprietor of the extensive Diamond Front grocery house, informs us he commenced his business that year; Mr. Nugent says he started his bakery in May, 1870; and we presume, Kohn's magnificent dry goods house is a continuation of the business inaugurated in October, 1870, when Sol. N. opened out a large stock.

On the 3d of April, 1871, the town was merged into a city of the 3d class, and the following officers chosen: Mayor, E. B. Allen; Councilmen, W. B. Hutchinson, President; S. C. Johnson, Chas. Schattner, Geo. Schlichter, A. H. Fabrique, Geo. Vantillburgh. The number of votes cast was 156. D. C. Hackett was appointed City Attorney; H. E. Van Trees, Police Judge; Mike Meagher, City Marshal; O. W. Brownwell, Clerk, and N. A. English, Treasurer. About the same time the First Arkansas Valley store was started by W. C. Woodman.

In June, 1871, the Wichita & Southwestern R. R. Co. was organized, with J. R. Mead, President; Wm. Griffinstien, Treasurer; H. S. Sluss, Secretary; Sol. H. Kohn, J. M. Steele, S. C. Johnson, G. H. Smith, Geo. Schlichter, C. F. Gilbert, T. J. Peter, R. W. P. Muse, and F. J. Fulton, the balance of the directors. On the 11th of August, 1871, the county voted $200,000 in bonds to aid in the construction of the road, which was completed to the city the following June.

The Wichita Bank was opened that month, and in the fall was organized as the First National Bank.

In the spring of 1872, Wichita became a city of the second class. The list of officers elected and appointed that and each subsequent year, together with the number of votes cast at each election, will appear elsewhere in this skitch. During the year (1872) a fine, substantial bridge was constructed across the Arkansas River at the west end of Douglas avenue. It was built by a joint stock company, at a cost of $27,100. The tolls the first year paid for more than half the cost of its construction. The spirit of enterprise always evinced by the people of the city and county would not long permit the levying of contributions from the travelling public clog the wheels of progress, and last year, by means of private subscriptions, aided by the county, it was made a free bridge.

Upon the completion of the railroad, the Texas cattle trade began to loom up. A cattle drive was established, which resulted in the shipment of immense herds, driven up from Texas through the Indian Territory, and through the "right of way" purchased by the citizens. Wichita was in every sense of the term, a "red hot town." Money circulated almost as freely as the waters of the Arkansas, and it would have been almost as easy to check the flow of that rapid stream as to prevent the influx and establishment of the various concomitants of vice. It was a harvest for saloons, gambling and bawdy houses, and while the season of the "drive" lasted, scarcely a day passed in which bitter fruits were not gathered; but as the years rolled on, and our churches, school houses, societies, elevators and graneries were substituted for the stock yards and surrounding camp fires, the efforts of the moral element predominated, especially as it was supported by a judicious and well-regulated system of municipal government; and to-day no city in the country, with the same business life, can boast of a more enlightened and moral element.

In the winter of 1871-2, Hon. J. M. Steele was sent to Washington by the citizens to secure the removal of the United States Land Office from Augusta to Wichita. He succeeded in his efforts, and the following April it was brought here. The Wichita Savings Bank was organized in July, 1872.

From this time on the growth of the city was rapid and substantial. Schools were placed in good condition; churches were constructed; fine business blocks and residences, mills and manufactories, followed each other in rapid succession.

The Wichita Eagle was started by Hon. M. M. Murdock in April, 1872, who afterwards associated with him R. P. Murdock. The Daily Beacon was commenced by Sowers & Millison the following October, and was subsequently changed to the Weekly Beacon, under the auspices of Smith & Fisher, the latter gentleman being succeeded by Capt. White, the other present proprietor. The Herald was started in 1877 by Mr. Robbins, who now has associated with him our County Surveyor, Mr. Nixon. The Empire House (now Tremont) was built in 1871; the Douglas Avenue Hotel was opened to the public in the spring of 1872; the Eagle block was built in 1872; the Occidental Hotel in 1873; the New York and Commercial blocks and the city mills in 1874; the water mills in 1875; Centennial block in 1876.

Various other buildings of note were constructed along from 1872 to the present time, among which might be mentioned the National Bank (now Court House) building; four elevators; Methodist, Baptist, Catholic and Presbyterian Churches; the fine residences of Messrs. Mead, Houck, Griffinstien, Murdock, Taylor, Lewis, and others.

Among the business structures on Main street are the fine blocks composed of the Colby patent of manufactured stone, which has of late become quite an important feature in the way of building material.

In the financial management of our municipal affairs, the city has been especially fortunate. Up to the year 1877, no city tax had been levied, and yet on the 8th day of last April there was $1,200 in the treasury, and the city was out of debt. It is true that for the building of protections against the waters of the Little River, the unusual amount of work done on the streets, and for other internal improvements, and some necessary but not usual expenses, during the present spring and summer, these funds have been exhausted; but we will venture the opinion that no other city in the State has been kept in operation as long and made as many improvements with so light a burden in the way of taxation. For this condition of affairs taxpayers are largely indebted to its Mayors and Councils, and especially to those who have had immediate charge of the finances.

It may not be out of place here to give a list of the city officers from its advent into the second class to the present time. Through the kindness of the City Clerk, we are enabled to do this, and also to give the vote for each year, except that of 1872:

OFFICERS FOR 1872.

The table for 1878 appears in the municipal directory, and it is not necessary to repeat it here.

We would be pleased to linger over many other reminiscences of the past, as they have been related to us by old citizens, but we are admonished that we have already taken up more space than the original purpose of this sketch provided for, and that we must be very brief in our reference to the

POPULATION.

According to the census taken in the spring and early summer, the population of the city was 4,209, divided as follows; White males over 21 years of age, 1,804; white females, 968; colored males over 21, 48; colored females, 42; white male school children, 586; white female children, 628; colored males, 28; colored females, 18; white males under 5 years, 298; white females, 277; colored males, 12; colored females, 10. This does not include the residents of West Wichita, nor those in additions within the geographical, but outside the municipal limits of the city. Those belong legally to the township census, though properly a part of the city. A careful regard was had for a legitimate census.

With these additions, and the floating population often claimed by cities having more regard for an unhealthy and fictitious showing than for facts, it would not be a difficult matter to show a population of 5,000, without going to other directories, or drawing on the imagination for names.

According to the census of the two years, the increase in population over that of last year is 240. Undoubtedly, this does not meet the sanguine expectations of those who did not consider that the great spring immigration was composed mainly of those who came to build up the country, and draw from its soil the resources that are sure to build the towns as fast as they ought to grow. We have seen so many ruinous results growing out of the fact that the towns have rushed ahead of the country, that if we were the principal real estate owner or merchant in the city, we would not have the order reversed which gave to Sedgwick County an increase of about 1,500, and to the surrounding counties tributary to Wichita a corresponding increase, while it gave us only our due proportion. The remarkable growth of the country insures a healthy and permanent advancement in the city. Give us the results of the labors of the agriculturists, horticulturists and stock raisers now in Sedgwick County, alone, and we shall not fear for the future of Wichita, so long as it maintains the healthy growth that has marked its history ever since it became a city. A hundred railroads passing north, south, east and west could not reduce our present prosperity, so long as they leave us the resources of Sedgwick County, and do not retard its growth. A hundred railroads coming directly to Wichita would not permanently benefit us, if they centered all the population yet to come, or even a majority of it, within the limits of the city. New citizens, and especially manufacturing operatives, should always be welcomed; but the welcome should be no less hearty to those who come to supply the consumers here and elsewhere, through the channels we are even now able to furnish, by tilling the fertile soil that surrounds us on all sides. Let every tillable quarter section around it (and there are but few if any others) be occupied by an enterprising and industrious farmer, and Wichita will continue its healthy strides along the avenues of prosperity.

As evidences of our advantages, derived mainly from these sources, we refer to our Business Directory, and here call attention briefly to a few of the industrial and attendant interests that are represented. For convenience we allude to them alphabetically. First in order, then, comes the line of AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

The trade in this line is remarkable for a community so young. It is a fair index of the character of support the city receives from the country. The amount of wheat grown in this section of the country has created an unusual demand for agricultural implements, aside from the plows and cultivators, required in the turning over of the virgin soil, and in the cultivation of corn and vegetables. With a view to ascertaining the amount of commerce in this line we visited four of the leading Agricultural Implement warehouses, and from their books ascertained that their sales during the months of April and May last, amounted to over $250,000. These are the best months in the year for the business, but if no business was done by them the balance of the year, that of the two months would present a remarkably encouraging exhibit.

BOARD OF TRADE.

Steps have been taken for the organization of a Board of Trade, which will probably be completed before the appearance of this work.

BANKS.

We have three banks in the city—the Farmers' & Merchant's, the First Arkansas Valley, and the Wichita Savings. They all have a large amount of surplus capital, and the fact that they stood the test of the panic of last spring, is sufficient evidence of their reliability. In the pursuit of our researches, we approached the President of the Savings Bank with some diffidence, for we know how loth men usually are to open their books for public inspection; but the hearty response of the President immediately set our mind at rest on that subject. He invited us into the bank (after it was closed for the day) and permitted us to make an examination of the average daily balances from the organization of the bank to the present time. We found that the average amount on hand daily, belonging to depositors alone, for each full year, was as follows: 1873, $65,000; 1874, $85,000; 1875, $80,000; 1876, $100,000; 1877, $120,000. For a new country, when capital is constantly fluctuating, this exhibit is certainly very encouraging, not only as a mirror of business, but as an evidence of the confidence existing as to the stability of our banks.

CHURCHES.

It is scarcely necessary to refer to these here, for the directory elsewhere, together with the chronological sketches kindly furnished by the ministers, is a sufficient index to the religious spirit of the people. We refer to it here for the purpose of calling attention to these sketches; and we will add that while they are not numerous, they are out of debt, which is much more than a very large number of the church organizations of the country can claim.

ELEVATORS.

Including that attached to the City Mills, we now have four completed, and two others in course of construction by Miller & Kellar and Abbott & West. The capacity of those already completed is as follows: English Elevator, 12,000 bushels; City Mills, 50,000; Russell & Furlong, 20,000; Westlake, 15,000. It is believed that these cannot meet the demands of the shipments of this season, and in addition to the new ones being constructed, a general enlargement of the old ones is contemplated.

GAS.

Two of our leading stores have already been supplied with gas by private contract; but the proper authorities have recently completed a contract with a Canton (Ohio) company to supply the city. Under this contract, fifty lamps are to be lighted on the principal streets and crossings, and opposite the several churches. Of course, this will result in a general supply of the whole city, very soon.

LAND OFFICE BUSINESS.

The business of the United States Land Office has received a very material impetus from the great immigration of the past spring. The locations have been mainly on the Osage lands. From the officers we learn that the number of acres appropriated during the months of January, February and March was 162,609.61, an increase over the same period last year of 29,221 acres.

LUMBER TRADE.

This is an important item in our business. The sale of lumber is not confined alone to the county, but the trade extends into the new counties of Harper and Kingman, which are being rapidly settled up, and to retail dealers in the several surrounding counties. We are informed that the shipment into the city, during the past year, amounted to 1,200 car loads.

MANUFACTORIES.

In this line the developments are not so great as the interest of the country demands, nor as the resources would support. We have, at different times, received letters from Eastern parties proposing to come here with woolen and other mills, provided a bonus is furnished. We want to answer these applications now, by saying that Wichita has arrived at that stage in its history when the people believe every line of business that the country demands can be made self-sustaining. Until its destiny was established the people were ready and willing to contribute freely from their purses towards the encouragement of every enterprise of this character, but it is now fully demonstrated that every line of industrial business demanded by the Western country can and will be sustained without free private contributions, and the theory is adopted that every enterprise from which money is to be made should "stand on its own bottom." We can, however, offer one of the best water powers in the State. In fact, we can offer two, for a race or canal dug from the Little River into the Arkansas, above the bridge, would furnish an inexhaustible supply of water, which could be easily utilized; but we already have one developed, connecting the waters of the Little River with those of Chisholm Creek, by means of which the water flouring mill is now operated, and from which ample power could be secured for a number of manufactories.

In the line of manufactories already established, we have two mills (one run by water and the other by steam), each with four run of stone, and a capacity for grinding from 100 to 120 barrels of flour a day. No better flour was ever manufactured than is furnished by these mills. In fact, the best brands are sent for in different portions of the State, even where they have mills. The millers cannot claim all the credit for its superiority. It is partly due to the excellent quality of the wheat.

There are two or three furniture manufactories, two mattrass factories, and two cigar factories.

Short's Soap Factory is especially worthy of mention. It was only recently established, but his soap has already taken the place of foreign products in the grocery houses. The factory is located near the west end of the bridge. It has two vats, with a capacity of 5,000 pounds each. He proposes manufacturing 10,000 pounds a week, for laundry and other household purposes, and will soon be prepared to supply the market with toilet soaps.

Wichita Foundry.—R. McFarland has recently located an iron foundry at the east end of the bridge, on Douglas avenue, in which he is prepared to repair all kinds of machinery. In a short time he expects to be ready to manufacture every description of castings, especially for mills and heavy machinery. We know Mr. M., in earlier days, as an adept in his line. We do not believe he will stop short of a complete establishment. He should, and undoubtedly will, be generally encouraged, for there is no line of manufactories that is so much calculated to reduce expenses of shipment. The utilizing of old iron, that is constantly thrown away in the absence of foundries, to say nothing of the advantage to all classes in the matter of repairs, is an item not to be overlooked.

Soda Factory.—For a long time Mr. George E. Harris has been manufacturing an excellent quality of soda. He supplies not only the city, but the surrounding towns.

MERCHANDISE.

The advertisements through the Directory furnish a partial mirror of the business in this line. We think we can assert, without fear of successful contradiction, that with perhaps one or two exceptions, no other city in the State has more mercantile houses than Wichita. The result of the competition has been unusually low prices for almost every description of goods. We have a great many inquiries presented to us by eastern correspondents as to the price of various articles. These can be secured from the city papers, which contain market reports. The prices do not vary materially from other towns west of Chicago, except in a few particulars. In the matter of dry goods the prices are about the same as those in towns farther east. Indeed, in some lines, on account of the competition, they are cheaper than in the smaller eastern towns. In the line of groceries and provisions, we quote a few articles as follows: Flour, from $2.50 to $3.00 per hundred lbs.; hams, 10 to 12½ cts. per lb.; clear sides, 9 to 10 cts.; mess pork, $11 to $12 per barrel; boneless pork, $15; coal oil, 18 to 25 cts. per gallon, (wholesale and retail); butter, 8 to 12½ cts.; chickens, alive, $1.50 to $2.00 per doz.; chickens and turkeys, dressed, 8 to 10 cts. per lb.; lard, 7½ to 10 cts.; potatoes, fluctuating from 50 cts. to $1.10 per bu. The new crop is very extensive, and is cheaper than the old. We have reason to believe that they will fall below 50 cts. this year. Coffee ranges from 20 to 33⅓ cts. per lb.; syrups, from 50 cts. to $1.00 per gallon; sugar, 12 to 18½ cts. per lb.; eggs, 10 cts. per dozen. Fuel is expensive. The best wood costs from $5 to $6 per cord; coal, from $7.00 to $12.50 per ton.

The competition in hardware and agricultural implements is extensive, and the prices will not differ materially from those in the east. Good draft horses bring from $100 to $150,—sometimes sold at auction for much less; good milch cows from $25 to $40.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

To this feature of internal improvements, the city authorities have devoted considerable attention. The grade of Douglas avenue and Main street is being established, a complete system of guttering and curbing adopted, and arrangements have been made for a general drainage of the city.

TRANSPORTATION.

For some reason, inscrutible, except in the wisdom of Providence and themselves, the railroad authorities have instructed their agents to refuse all information as to the shipments, over the road, to this city, to and from the east. We believe, however, we can safely say the shipments to and from this city exceed that of any other point along the line.

We are indebted to Wm. H. Hazen, the Q. M. agent at this point, for information showing up Wichita as a shipping point by wagon.

From him we learn that the shipment of military supplies, comprising Q. M., Commissary, Ordnance and Medical Stores, to the post at Fort Reno, alone, aggregate, for the past fiscal year, 2,074,882 pounds. In addition thereto, an immense quantity of Indian supplies for the various agencies, and suttler's goods for the several post traders at the different forts in the Territory, are constantly being forwarded. No less than 5,000,000 pounds of freight are annually started for the Territory by wagon. For the transfer of these goods, several thousand dollars are paid by contractors to a number of regular freighters and numerous teamsters, and farmers, with idle teams, throughout Sedgwick and adjoining counties, the proceeds of whose earnings are naturally and necessarily distributed among the various dealers of Wichita.

In this connection it is proper to refer to the personal transportation. Eastern people, in their letters of inquiry, often ask us by what route they shall come. There are two routes running from Missouri in this direction. At Kansas City they can take the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R. to this place, or they can take the Missouri, Kansas & Texas at Hannibal, Mo, or, if they come via St. Louis, at Sedalia, Mo., and come over that road as far as Emporia, at which place they can change cars for Wichita.

It is also due to those who propose to come to the country, that we advise them not to be deceived by the employees of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R. Co. They have no lands for sale near Wichita, and use every means in their power to get people to go by and locate on their lands about Kinsley and farther west. In this they are planting a crop of curses that will certainly be harvested: for while, owing to the wet weather of the past two seasons, tolerable crops of wheat have been harvested, the first ordinarily dry season that comes it will be discovered that the country west of Larned approaches as near the original conception of the "American Desert," as is possible for the worst soil, and dryest climate in the State. We advise all who contemplate visiting Wichita, to take the car for that place, when they get on the train at Kansas City or Emporia. Or if they desire to visit farther west, let them do so; but do not locate until you have examined and compared the country in Sedgwick, Sumner, Harper and Kingman counties. In some of these counties land can be bougnt at government prices, while far better land than is offered by the railroad company, can be had from private parties, near the city, for less money.

In the matter of transportation, the question of the navigation of the Arkansas river has become an important item in the discussion of future probabilities. Our representative in Congress, assisted by the balance of the delegation, has succeeded in securing an appropriation for the expenses of a survey from Wichita to the head ot present navigation. We are not conversant with soundings, &c., but we are informed by an old steamboat captain that a boat of 30 tons can be operated in a channel of 14 inches depth. If this is a fact, there's no reason for doubting that by means of jetties and canals, the river can be made navigable as far up as Wichita. Should this fact be practically demonstrated, we may soon look for water transportation to Memphis, and thence to the Gulf of Mexico. Whether it is demonstrated or not, it will give an impetus to an enterprise long contemplated, in the construction of a railroad along the banks of that stream. Either event will give to Wichita and its tributary country a southern outlet and better prices for its cereals. River transportation will be the most beneficial, but either will make Wichita the best inland shipping point in the State.

We stop at this knot in the thread, and gather it up in a contemplation of the FUTURE.

Even a prophet could not predict the future of this "Happy Valley." Why should we attempt it? We look back into the shadows of the past, and mingle with those who first landed on American shores, wondering all the time how far their gaze extended towards the region of the setting sun. Our past was their future. Our present beyond their most utopian ideas. Our future they never contemplated. The thread has become gray. Will it unravel itself into another century? If it does, who can predict the future of Wichita? Who can tell of its streets and avenues, shaded with forest and fruit trees of an hundred years growth, its moss-covered buildings, its schools, churches and business thoroughfares? Hopes will be blasted; hopes will end in fruition, and hopes will be realized in the sunlight of success. But we need not wait that long. We could not if we would. The child, and perhaps the man, now lives within our limits who will pass along its streets, look at its numbers, and listen to the hum of commerce in a city of 20,000.

CHURCH ORGANIZATION AND CHRONOLOGY.

(NOTE.—A sketch of the Methodist Church was repeatedly promised us; but probably on account of want of time the Pastor was unable to furnish it.)

Baptist Church.

The First Baptist Church of Wichita was organized May 26, 1872, with twenty-six members. In January of 1873, Rev. J. C. Post, of Fort Scott, Kan., became pastor and continued two years. During Mr. Post's ministry to the church, a meeting house was erected at a cost of $2,500, and dedicated in the autumn of 1873, and the membership nearly doubled in number. After the close of Mr. Post's labors in 1875, the church became discouraged and scattered, and was destitute of a pastor for one year, when Rev. W. F. File began preaching for them, continuing about eight months. Again the church was without any regular preaching for some months, and another season of darkness and discouragement passed through. In June, 1877, the present pastor, Rev. I. F. Davis, began his labors. The membership now numbers seventy-five, and the church is flourishing. Services every Sunday morning and evening; Sunday School at 2:30 p. m., and prayer meeting every Wednesday evening, in the church, at the corner of Market and First streets. Pastor's study at H. J. Hill's, west side of Topeka avenue, second door north of Second street.

Catholic Church.

By order of the Bishop, Right Rev. L. M. Fink, D. D., of Leavenworth, Kas., the Catholic congregation was organized early in November, 1872, through Rev. Anton Kuhls, Catholic pastor of Wyandotte, Kas. The present church edifice was bought from the Presbyterian Church body for the sum of $550. Rev. A. Kuhls blessed and dedicated the same under the title of St. Aloysius' Catholic Church, November 24th, 1873. January 2d, 1873, Rev. F. P. Swembergh, formerly of Prairie City, Kansas, was appointed pastor of Wichita and missions. Under his supervision the church edifice was plastered and suitably repaired, and pastoral residence built. On March 15, 1874, Rev. F. P. Swembergh left for an appointment to Newton Station, and Rev. J. C. Shurz, the present pastor, was appointed in his stead. Besides Wichita, the counties of Butler, Cowley, Sedgwick, Sumner, Harper and Kingman are administrated by the pastor of Wichita. The Catholic population of Wichita parish may be estimated at 150 members, and its circuit to over 300 families, or 1,500 members. The spiritual government of the parish and Mission, belongs solely and entirely to the pastor, as representative of the bishop. In the management of temporal affairs, the pastor is aided by a so-called church committee, appointed every year by the reverend pastor, and approved by the bishop. Messrs. T. H. Lynch, C. Bradley and H. Grady, serve as the committee for 1878. The value of the church property may be estimated at about $4,500. All property is held in fee simple by the bishop of the diocese.

This building was sold to the Roman Catholic church in the fall of 1872. The corner-stone of the present edifice was laid on the 4th of July, 1876, and on the 16th of September, 1877, the building was formally dedicated. Its cost, including lot, was $5,000. The Rev. W. K. SEDGWICK COUNTY.

HISTORICAL.

We do not propose to attempt a history of Sedgwick county. The earliest incidents connected with its territory occurred in Wichita, which was located before the county was organized. The idea of a town, and its location nearly on its present site, was conceived and executed as early as 1868. The county, although previously erected, was not organized until early in 1870. Whatever of public interest transpired up to that time in the county, occurred in Wichita. It was not discovered by any great number of the "teeming millions" of the states east, or of even the eastern portion of Kansas, that the Great American Desert was "played out" in the valleys of the Arkansas and Ninnescah; and the settlements generally were located within a radius of a few miles of Wichita.

During the summer of 1868 the county was attached to Butler for judicial purposes, and constituted a township for election purposes. The first election was held in November of that year, and thirty-five votes were polled.

In October, 1869, an organization of the county was attempted, conventions called, and an election held; but about the time the returns were all in, a communication was received from the Governor to the effect that on account of informalities and irregularities, further steps would have to be taken. Col. D. M. V. Stewart was elected to the Legislature; Minnard Hall, Sheriff; and Vigus and Dunlap, two of the Commissioners. Of course their election was void.

A census was subsequently taken, the proper papers sent to Topeka, and in the winter of 1870, S. C. Johnson, Wm. Lockhard and Henry Stein, were appointed by the Governor as Commissioners to organize the county. John Ward was appointed County Clerk; the county was divided into three commissioner's districts, and an election was called, to be held in April. The Eagle's Centennial history says:

"A convention was called and nominated a ticket, and there were several independent candidates. The county seat question cut a vigorous figure in the campaign. The following officers were elected; N. A. English, T. S. Floyd and Alex. McWilliams, County Commissioners; J. M. Steele, County Clerk; F. J. Fulton, County Attorney; L. F. Buttles, Register of Deeds; D. A. Bright, Clerk District Court; Reuben Riggs, Probate Judge; W. N. Walker, Sheriff; S. C. Johnson, Treasurer; John Price Hilton, Superintendent of Schools; Wm. Finn, Surveyor; E. B. Allen, Coroner. The total vote was two hundred and sixty. Wichita scooped the platter for county seat over Park City. J. M. Steele and H. E. Vantrees were chosen Justices of the Peace; Wm. Smith, Trustee; and I. S. Elder, Constable of Wichita township.

"The court house used by the county on its first organization was a unique structure, built on a plan supposed to be after Solomon's own heart, devised by the same architect that evolved the plan of the Buckhorn hotel. The inside finish was nice bnt not gaudy, just like the outside. The vestibule was occupied by Jack Peyton as a saddle and harness manufactory, the rotunda was occupied by Dutch Tobe as a boot and shoe manufactory, an ante-chamber adjoining the rotunda was occupied by the Probate Court. The County Attorney also had his library there. The east wing was devoted to the occupancy of the several county officers, and the vaults for the safe keeping of the county records. It also contained a club-room and a complete outfit, consisting of a cooking stove and a frying pan. It also contained a justice's court room. All the lawyers, real estate agents, surveyors and notaries public in the town had their offices there; but the ruthless hand of time has laid waste its walls.

"The first meeting of the county commissioners was held the 27th of April.—The first official act was the granting of a dram shop license. The first county order issued was in favor of T. S. Floyd.

"In October, a regular Republican convention was held, which nominated the following ticket: Commissioners, T. S. Floyd, C. H. Stone and McWilliams; Representative, J. M. Steele; County Clerk, J. W. Ransom; Sheriff, W. N. Walker; Treasurer, S. C. Johnson; County Attorney, H. C. Sluss; Probate Judge, Wm. Baldwin; Register of Deeds, F. A. Sowers; Surveyor, T. H. Dunlap; Coroner, E. B. Allen.

"Shortly afterward, there was a people's convention held, which put the following gentlemen forward: Commissioners, N. A. English and T. S. Floyd; Representative, Ed. W. Smith; Sheriff, J. E. Ledford; County Clerk, H. L. Brown; Register of Deeds, Geo. E. Clark; Treasurer, E. P. Waterman; Probate Judge, Reuben Riggs; Surveyor, John A Sroufe.

"Wm. Smith ran as an independent condidate for sheriff, as also H. E. Vantrees for register of deeds. With the exception of sheriff and one county commissioner, the entire Republican ticket was elected."

We supplement the quotations from the Eagle with a list of the officers elected and qualified from 1870 to the last year, a list of which appears in the Sedgwick county municipal directory. Time did not permit us to make as complete lists as we desired, but we believe they are correct as far as they go:

1870.—Commissioners, N. A. English, chairman; T. S. Floyd and Alexander McWilliams; County Clerk, J. M. Steele; Sheriff, Walter Walker; Sup't of Pub. Instructions, John P. Hilton, who tendered his resignation, and in July, 1871, W. R. Boggs was appointed.

1871.—Same commissioners; Clerk, F. A. Sowers, (Capt. Steele having resigned); Sheriff, John Meagher; Treasurer, S. C. Johnson; Probate Judge, Wm. Baldwin; Register of Deeds and Clerk Dist. Court, John McIvor.

In December, 1871, a contest occurred, for commissioner, between Sol. H. Kohn and D. C. Hackney, which was decided in favor of the former gentleman, who was duly qualified.

1872.—Sol. H. Kohn, chairman; S. J. Bentley and R. A. Neely; Clerk, Fred. Schattner; Sheriff, John Meagher; Surveyor, John A. Sroufe; Coroner, H. Owens; Representative, H. C. Sluss; other officers same as 1871.

1873.—District Judge, W. P. Campbell; Senator, M. M. Murdock; Representative, E. B. Allen; Commissioners, Sol. H. Kohn, John Carpenter and S. J. Bentley; Probate Judge, W. C. Little; County Attorney, H. C. Sluss; District Clerk, George W. Reeves; Superintendent, A. Emerson; other officers same as 1872.

1874.—Commissioners, John Carpenter, President; W. J. Hobbs and J. B. York; Representative, E. P. Thompson; Treasurer, L. N. Woodcock; Sheriff, P. H. Massey; Clerk, John Tucker; Register, Milo B. Kellogg; Surveyor, H. L. Jackson; Coroner, S. B. Street; Superintendent, Albert Emerson; other officers same as 1873.

1875.—Senator, H. C. St. Clair; Representative, E. B. Allen; County Attorney, W. E. Stanley; Clerk District Court, George W. Reeves; Probate Judge, W. C. Little; Coroner, W. H. White (elected but not qualified); other officers same as 1874.

1876.—Representative, John Kelley; Commissioners, J. M. Steele and O. G. Jacobs; Sheriff, H. W. Dunning; Clerk, John Tucker; Register of Deeds, M. B. Kellogg; Treasurer, L. N. Woodcock; Surveyor, H. L. Jackson; Coroner, D. S. Munger; other officers same as 1875.

The county contains an area of 1,008 square miles, or 645,120 acres. The country consists entirely of first and second bottom lands, the highest elevation above the level of the Arkansas river, being about 60 feet. The soil is a rich, porous loam. It is intermixed, somewhat, with sand, in place of the clay and hard pan so common in some other sections. The readiness with which it pulverizes, makes it especially valuable to new beginners, with limited means; for crops may as readily be raised on the first breaking as after two or three seasons of cultivation in many other countries. Ground may be broken in the spring, and an excellent crop of wheat harvested the following season; or if broken in the fall, a crop of corn may be grown the following season, that far surpasses the ordinary crops of sod corn. This is an item of no small importance to him who is unable to wait until the second crop to realize. There is another feature that is uncommon: The whole valley of the Arkansas is sub-irrigated. The waters of the Arkansas are not confined to the limits of its banks, but spread themselves under the ground, along the whole width of the valley. Thus, in dry weather, the evaporation protects the soil from drouth, (if properly cultivated), while its porous nature makes it almost equal to the best of drainage in carrying off an excess of water. Wells are seldom dug, and never blasted, except in a few localities where stone quarries prevail. The "drive pump" is most commonly in use. The expense is light, and its capacity is generally sufficient. Hence nearly every improved lot in Wichita is supplied with water, while along some of the principal streets the pump handles and water troughs extend a welcome to the thirsty man and beast. And the water is cooler and purer than the average. Of course its temperature is largely dependent on the depth to which the tube is driven.

The country is traversed by several large streams, and many small ones. Among the larger, we may enumerate the Arkansas, Little Arkansas and Nennescah rivers, Cowskin, Chisholm, Clearwater and Gypsum creeks, all streams of good size and never failing water.

The country is naturally almost treeless, except along some of the streams; but this drawback is easily remedied by the rapid growth of forest trees, (especially maple and cottonwood), whether transplanted, from the cuttings, or from the seed. There are now trees in Wichita which were the smallest of saplins when transplanted eight years ago, that measure fully a foot in diameter, large enough for rails, and almost of sufficient size for saw logs.

This remarkably vigorous and rapid growth extends in a measure to fruit trees. There are a few apple, pear and cherry trees already bearing, while peaches will be almost a drug in the market this season. Contracts were easily made with the producers, at 25 cents per bushel, before the fruit had ripened. A period of but a very few years will elapse before Wichita, as well as many other portions of the county, will be a perfect forest of fruit and forest trees. Many of the small fruits also do remarkably well. Some of our citizens already have a full supply for their own use, and in some instances, for the markets.

In the matter of population, Sedgwick county has made very rapid strides. In 1870, the population was 1,095; in 1875, it was 8,310; in 1877, 13,414; and in 1778, 15,220; an increase, from 1870 to 1875, of 7,215; 1875 to 1877, 4,904; and for the past year, 1,806.

The value of taxable property, according to the Assessor's returns for 1878, was $2,558,057.84.

The following table, embracing the years 1877 and 1878, is a fair index of the material prosperity of the county, and its progress. It differs somewhat from the report of the State Agricultural Department for 1877; but as it is taken from the books in the County Clerk's office, we conclude that it is correct, and can only account for the difference by the fact that the report must have been made to the Department before the returns were all in, and therefore, partly estimated.

The wheat crop has been a remarkable one. But for the rains about harvest time, the yield would have been far beyond the expectations of the most sanguine; as it was, it is far better than was expected in the early spring. Prudent calculators estimated the average yield to be at least 20 bushels to the acre; but if we allow for every contingency, and come within the limits of 15 bushels, Sedgwick county alone will produce nearly 1,300,000 bushels.

The season has been equally favorable for all other farm and all garden products. Oats have filled splendedly; corn has had an unusually vigorous growth; potatoes and other vegetables have been produced in mammoth proportions.

The value of poultry and eggs marketed this season, is $6,758.96; the number of pounds of cheese, 135,116, and of butter, 202,414.

The number of horses in the county is, 4,585; an increase over last year of 743; the number of asses and mules, 1,145; increase, 85; of milch cows, 3,102; increase, 346.

The number of bushels of old corn on hand on the first of last March, was 282,506; an increase over last year of 109,978 bushels.

We conclude this article by a few quotations from a circular recently published under the auspices of the municipal authorities af the city of Wichita:

"The Arkansas is a broad and shallow stream, with many islands, low but well defined banks, varying from four to ten feet in hight. The most remarkable features are that, although draining a country before reaching Kansas, larger than all New England, and although it carries the melting snow, in June, July and August of many thousand square miles, it never overflows its banks, but its waters are curiously kept within the bed of the stream, working a great benefit to the soil of the valley for miles upon each side. The superabundant water spreads itself through a porous subsoil, instead of overflowing the country, as would be the case if the subsoil of the wide valleys were clay instead of gravel. So completely does the porous subsoil drink up the water, that most of the year the river is easily fordable with teams, particularly in the hottest season, completing thus, when most needed, an under irrigation, which through the wise benificence of a kind Providence, renders it impossible for a drouth to ever devastate the rich fields of the Arkansas valley.

"The soil is a deep black loam, resting on a lighter colored subsoil, consisting of loam, clay and gravel, both soil and subsoil being so porous that surface water readily passes through them, and in no case is there any difficulty experienced in crossing with horses and wagons or stocks, any water courses or beds of streams. Teams may be driven across streams or creek bottoms fearlessly, without danger of miring. This porosity of the soil, while it renders it capable of being plowed or worked immediately after the heaviest rains, at the same time keeps it constantly moist from evaporation below, and protects it from drouth. It is without doubt the best watered portion of Kansas. On the bottom, "drive wells" or tube wells are universally used. They consist of a tube of galvenized iron, with a steel point, the lower end of the tube having holes on its sides, around which is wrapped a piece of wire gauze for a strainer; this pipe is driven into the ground, through a hole in the kitchen floor if desired, or wherever indication dictates, and water is reached at a depth of from six to fifteen feet. A pump is placed upon the pipe, and in an hour's time a boundless supply of pure, cold, healthy water is obtained.

"Three months will include the entire amount of cold weather. The heat of the summer is tempered by almost a constant breeze, and the nights are always cool and pleasant. The elevation above the level of the sea is 1,200 feet, and the absence of swamps or marshes, with the constant breezes, combine to render the health of the county much above the average. Many have come to this section for their health and found themselves much benefitted."

Where and How to Secure Homes in the Arkansas Valley,

WITH A SYNOPSIS OF THE

LAND LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES,

AND SOME OF THE

Laws of the State of Kansas.

WHERE TO SECURE HOMES.

The public lands in and contiguous to the Arkansas Valley are disposed of at the Wichita and Larned land offices.

Those subject to entry under the Homestead and Timber Culture Acts, and the Pre-emption Acts of 1841, embrace all of that territory north of the center of township 26, running east and west through the two districts.

The Osage lands embrace all of that territory south of said line, except a small strip along the south line of the State, known as the "Cherokee Strip," which is now in the market.

The Wichita land district embraces the territory between the east line of range 8 east and the west line of range 10 west, and from township 21 to the south line of the State.

The territory due west of that in the Wichita district is in the Larned district.

The public lands—that is those subject to homestead entry—within the limits of the Wichita district have been principally disposed of. In the western part of Reno and McPherson counties a very considerable amount of the territory is still vacant, but being rapidly settled.

In Sedgwick, Harvey, Marion and Butler counties some tracts may be found that have been homesteaded or filed on, and abandoned. These tracts, however, are hard to find without the assistance of agents who are acquainted with them, and who have plats showing their status on the record.

There are also a few tracts of "offered lands" in the eastern part of the district, subject to entry with cash or land warrants, without settlement or residence.

Some of the finest and most productive territory in the State is within the limits of what are known as the "Osage Lands." There is no better prairie country in the world than is to be found in Sedgwick, Sumner, Cowley and Butler counties.

The territory west of Sumner and Sedgwick is still mainly vacant, but now settling very rapidly, especially in Harper and Kingman counties. From the center of Sumner east a few vacant tracts, and some that have been abandoned, may be had.

Wichita is the best objective point for those seeking homes on these lands, as well as on a principal portion of the homestead lands.

It is the largest town in the valley; the terminus of the railroad; has superior hotel accommodations, and facilities for outfitting and transportation. Being the location of the U. S. Land Office, better facilities for information present themselves here than elsewhere.

The "Cherokee Strip," along the south line of the State, and bordering on the Indian Territory, is again in the market, for actual settlers for $1.25 per acre. This strip contains some of the best land in the State, and is especially valuable for stock raising purposes.

Improved and unimproved farms are on the market at prices and on terms that give even the poor man opportunities to secure a home for himself and family.

HOW TO SECURE HOMES.

The public lands are divided into two classes—"offered" and "unoffered."

"Offered Lands" may be purchased with cash or land warrants, without any restrictions as to settlement, residence, or improvements.

"Unoffered Lands"—and there is but little else now in Kansas—can only be secured under the homestead, pre-emption and timber culture laws.

(Those who desire to purchase without any qualifications except the money, should visit or correspond with the agents or corporations and private parties in Wichita.)

In value, the public lands are distinguished as "minnimum" and "double minnimum." "Minnimum" lands are rated at $1.25 per acre; "double minnimum," at $2.50 per acre.

The latter are within the limits of ten miles on each side of railroads, (in Kansas), to which lands have been granted by the government.

All the balance are "minnimum" lands.

QUALIFICATIONS.

Under the Pre-emption and Timber Culture laws, and the law providing for the disposal of the Osage lands, the applicant must be a citizen of the United States, or declared his or her intention to become such.

Under the Homestead laws he or she must have the same qualifications at the time of making the inceptive entry, and when the final entry is made, must be an actual citizen, either native born or by naturalization.

Under all the laws, the applicant must be the head of a family, a widow, or have arrived at the age of 21 years.

REQUIREMENTS.

The following rules must be observed before a party can secure a title:

PRE-EMPTIONS.

Settlement must first be made on the tract selected.

This may be done by personally selecting the land and laying the foundation of a house, breaking some ground, or making some other visible improvement.

On "offered lands" the settler must file a declaratory statement at the local land office within thirty days from date of settlement.

On "unoffered land," including the Osage land, he or she must file within three months.

On "unoffered" public lands he or she must "prove up" and enter within thirty months from date of filing.

On "offered" lands, he or she must "prove up" and enter within one year from date of settlement.

On the Osage lands, applicant must prove up and enter within one year from date of settlement, in order to be protected by the government against other applicants. If he fails to do so, procedence will be given to the claims of any subsequent legal applicant. If there is no adverse claimant shown by the records, applicant may prove up and enter at any time after the year expires, by paying five per cent. interest on the value of the land, for the excess of time.

At the time of proving up, the applicant must show, by the testimony of two witnesses, in addilion to his qualifications, the date of settlement, construction of a house, amount of land broken and cultivated, and a residence of six months.

On the public lands, he must also prove that he has not quit his residence on his own land to reside on the public lands in the State. The owner of 320 acres anywhere in the United States cannot pre-empt.

One legal filing exhausts the pre-emption rights of the person filing.

On public lands, the tract may be paid for with cash, land warrants, or agricultural college script, at the rate of $1.25 per acre for "minnimum," and $2.50 per acre for "double minnimum" lands.

Osage lands must be paid for in cash, at the rate of $1.25 per acre.

HOMESTEADS.

Settlement cannot date back of the entry. The inceptive right commences with it.

The tract having been selected, the settler makes his application, and his first affidavit, the main features of which have heretofore been suggested.

When he applies for his last papers, he must prove by two witnesses, in addition to his qualifications, that he built his house and moved into it within six months from the date of entry; that he has resided on the land for five years succeeding his first entry; that he has cultivated a portion of it, and that no portion of the land has been alienated.

He may prove up within five years from date of first entry, and must prove up within seven years.

If a naturalized citizen, the naturalization papers, or a certified copy thereof, must be presented at the time of final entry.

A citizen who has entered, under the homestead act, less than 160 acres of minnimum, or 80 of double minnimum land, may take, in legal subdivisions, without residence, enough to make up that amount; but the tract so entered must be adjoining the tract already entered, and upon which he is residing.

This rule does not apply to soldiers who took homesteads prior to June 22d, 1874. They may take up enough to make 160 acres anywhere within the public domain, subject to homestead entries.

A person who has served in the army three months or over, may have his time of service deducted from the time of residence required of citizens; but not more than four years can be deducted. A certified copy of his discharge must accompany the papers.

Citizens can homestead only 160 acres of minnimum, or 80 acres of double minnimum land. Soldiers may take not to exceed 160 acres of either.

If by reason of long distance from the office, or some other unavoidable cause, the applicant cannot appear at the land office, he may have his first affidavit taken before the clerk of the county or district court of the county in which the land is situated.

Under recent rulings the final affidavit may be taken before the judge of the district court of the district in which the applicant resides, or in his absence, before the clerk thereof, providing he gives good reasons for his inability to appear at the U. S. Land Office. Until recently the final affidavit could only be taken before the local land officers.

The proof may be taken before any officer in the district with a seal.

It is important that the papers should be made out by some person who is well posted; for the officers are sometimes obliged to send them back for correction, and in the interim the tract is open to any legal applicant.

A homestead may be commuted and entered with cash, land warrants, or scrip, after six months' residence.

TIMBER CULTURE.

Applicant must have the usual qualifications.

Only one-fourth of any section, which, at the date of first entry is devoid of timber, can be entered.

The affidavit may be taken before any officer in the district authorized to administer oaths.

Applicant need not necessarily go to the land office.

Residence is not required.

The final entry may be made at the expiration of eight years from date of first entry, or within five years thereafter.

The proof must show that one-sixteenth of the tract entered was broken within one year from date of first entry; one-sixteenth within two years, and one-eighth within three years; that one-sixteenth was planted to trees within two years; one-sixteenth within three years, and one-eighth within four years; that the trees have been planted in compact form, not more than twelve feet apart each way, and kept in a good state of cultivation up to date of final entry.

A homestead settler who, at the end of three years from date of his first entry, can prove that he has so far complied with the requirements of the homestead laws, and that he has in a healthy, growing condition, one-sixteenth of his tract in timber, may consummate his entry without further residence.

An act of Congress was passed last winter, which materially changes the original provisions of the Timber Culture Act; but at the time of the compiling of this directory and guide no instructions had been received at the local offices. The main amendment provides for a reduction in the number of acres to be planted and cultivated, and an increase in the number of trees. On a tract of 160 acres, only ten acres are to be planted to trees, instead of forty, as heretofore; but the trees must be only four feet apart, instead of twelve, as heretofore.

SYNOPSIS OF LAWS OF KANSAS.

[PREPARED EXPRESSLY FOR THIS WORK, BY O. D. KIRK.]

STAY OF EXECUTIONS.—Before Justices of the Peace. For $20, and under, thirty days; over $20; and not exceeding $50, sixty days; over $50, and not exceeding $100, ninety days; over $100, one hundred and twenty days.

EXEMPT FROM EXECUTION.—A homestead to the extent of one hundred and sixty acres of farming land, or of one acre within the limits of an incorporated town or city, occupied as a residence by the family of the owner, together with all the improvements on the same, shall be exempted from forced sale under any process of law, and shall not be alienated without the joint consent of husband and wife, when that relationship exists; but no property shall be exempt from sale for taxes, or for the payment of obligations contracted for the purchase of said premises, or for the erection of improvements thereon. The provisions of the foregoing shall not apply to any process of law obtained by virtue of a lien given by the consent of both husband and wife.

PERSONAL PROPERTY.—The law is liberal. No personal property is exempt from attachment or execution for the wages of any clerk, mechanic, laborer or servant.

DEEDS AND MORTGAGES OF REAL ESTATE.—Not valid except between the parties thereto and such as have actual notice thereof, unless recorded in the office of register of deeds for the county in which such real estate is situated.

CHATTEL MORTGAGES.—Unaccompanied by an immediate delivery and an actual and continued change of possession of the things mortgaged, they are absolutely void as against the creditors of the mortgagors, and against subsequent purchasers and mortgagees in good faith, unless the mortgage, or a true copy thereof, shall be forthwith placed in the office of the register of deeds in the county where the property shall then be situated, or, if the mortgagor be a resident of this state, then of the county in which he shall, at that time, be a resident.

TAXES—on real estate, are due Nov. 1st. After December 20, a penalty attaches. Taxes may be paid semi-annually—one half on the 20th of December, and the balance on the 20th of the following June. If all is paid on or before Dec. 20, a rebate of five per cent. is allowed on one half of the full amount.

Lands sold for taxes are redeemable for three years from date of sale, and no tax deed can be made before that time. Such deed shall be prima facie evidence of the regularity of the proceedings.

Any suit against the tax purchaser, his heirs or assigns, for the recovery of lands sold for taxes, or to defeat or avoid a sale or conveyance of land for taxes, except in cases where the taxes have been paid, or the land redeemed, as provided by law, shall be commenced within five years from the time of recording the tax deed, and not thereafter.

Liens.—Any mechanic or other person who shall, under contract with the owner of any tract or piece of land, his agent or trustee, or under contract with the husband or wife, perform labor or furnish material for erecting, altering or repairing any building, or the appurtenances, or any erection or improvements, or shall furnish or perform labor in putting up any fixtures or machinery, in, or attachment to any such building or improvement, or plant or grow any trees, vines, hedge or hedge fence, or shall build a stone fence, perform labor, or furnish material for erecting, altering or repairing any fence or any tract or piece of land, shall have a lien upon the whole tract, or piece of land, the buildings and appurtenances, for the amount due to him for such labor, or material, fixtures, or machinery.

Judgments.—Judgments of courts of record, of this State and the United States rendered within this State, shall be liens on the real estate of the debtor, within the county in which the judgment is rendered; but judgments by confession and judgments rendered at the same time during which the action was commenced, shall bind such lands only from the day on which such judgment was rendered. Justice's jundgments become liens by filing transcript in the district court of the county.

Interest.—Legal rate is seven per cent., but twelve per cent. may be contracted for in writing. Persons contracting usury forfeit all usury.

Judgments bear seven per cent.; but where the contract sued on specifies the interest it bears, the judgment rendered thereon bears the same, but not to exceed twelve per cent.

Notes.—In case of non-payment, should be protested in order to change drawers and indorsers. Negotiable paper, except bank checks and sight drafts entiiled to three days of grace.

Married Women.—The property, real and personal, which any woman in this State may own at the time of her marriage, and the rents, issues, profits or proceeds thereof, and any real, personal or mixed property which shall come to her by descent, devise or bequest, or the gift of any person except her husband, shall remain her sole and seperate property, notwithstanding her marriage, not be subject to the disposal of her husband, or liable for his debts.

May bargain, sell and convey her real and personal property, and enter into any contract with reference to the same. May sue and be sued, in the same manner as if she was unmarried.

May carry on any trade or business, and perform any labor or services, on her sole and separate account, and the earnings thereof shall be her sole and separate property, and may be used and invested by her in her own name.

Limitations.—An action upon contract, not in writing, express or implied, three years; written instrument, five years.

Courts.—Justices have jurisdiction, in civil cases, co-extensive with county in sums not exceeding three hundred dollars.

In an action on an undertaking given in pursuance to law, when damage does not exceed five hundred dollars. Justices summons require three days before the time of appearance.

District court of Sedgwick county sits third Monday in May; second Monday in September, and third Monday in December.
